COMEDY OF THE CANVASS.

LEE PAIRCHILD BEIS $10 ON HIM. SELF AND LOSES.

Official Joke Emitted by the National Republican Press Bureau-Tim Sullivan Cruelly Misunderstood-The Only Other Tim Tells What a Virgin Porest Ic.

"The newspapers missed the best point in one of the speeches Tom Reed made the other day," said Lee Fairchild, wandering up to the amen pews at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night. "He'd been taiking just about half an hour and he had his audience by the ears. He was eloquent. Occasionally he'd get pathetic. Of course, the hall was jammed so full that it was hardly possible to breathe. Well, he was approaching a climax in the speech, and everything was so quiet you could hear a pin drop. People were just leaning forward to catch every word. He nad almost finished his sentence when a man who had a place at the low rail in the callery lost his balance and came sprawling down to the main floor. So interested was the audience that not a man or woman in it noticed the interruption. At least, not a man or woman stirred. Reed went on and finished his sentence, and the whole audience joined in cheering. He then he said, as haif a dozen men lifted up the man who had fallen:

" Fellow citizens, that's what I call a genuine knock-down argument." Well, sir, it was five minutes before he could

"Well, sir, it was five minutes before he could say another word."

"I wish I was as quick-witted as Reed," went on Fairchild, after a bit; and he looked really sad and down-hearted. "I've just come back from a trip up in northern New York, and they didn't do a thing to me up there. One of my stock arguments this year has been that a silver certificate was as good as gold, because there was 45 cents' worth of gold promise behind it. Well, I use a ten-dollar silver certificate in this argument. Holding it up, I say that it is worth that, and worth that because there is $4.50 in gold promise behind it, just the certificate to the unbeliever. I say 'if you can't see it turn yellow while I explain it then you can have it.' Well, it's a good bluff, you know, and I always got away with it till I struck a little town up in Clinton county the struck a little town up in Clinton county the other night. bered by direct mortgages, and which will have to be sold.

The receivers have not yet applied to the Court for direction as to the disposal of this property, but it is expected that the moment they do, it will bring forth a petition from the holders of Northera Facche preferred stock that will call for another long legal action, unless an amicable settlement can be reached. The preferred stockholders, it was stated, lay claim to these lands, asserting that by the reading of their stock-certificates, the preferred stock holders, the preferred stock holders are property. If the contention of the stockholders prevails there will be very little left for the general creditors.

AGAINST ENGLISH CRUELTY. Irish Societies Meet to Protest and

Raise Funds for Prisoners. A public demonstration for the benefit of the irish Political Prisoners' Fund was held last night at the Academy of Music under the man agement of the association which has the fund in charge. The hall was well filled considering the inclemency of the weather. The programme included a vigorous condemnation of the system of prison treatment to which the prisoners who recently arrived in this country were subjected The aim of this meeting was to raise funds for the relief of the released men, and a collection was taken up at the close of the meeting. Over 100 Irish societies were represented, and a detachment of the First Regiment of Irish Volunteers in full uniform was on the platform. On a strip of bunting over the stage were the expressions of John Redmond, the counsel for the Irish prisoners: "The English convict system is the most brutal and demoral-zing in the world. The deplorable condition of Gallagher, Whitelead, and Daly proves this."

The programme, consisting of music and addresses, was a long one. The speakers were Gen, James R. O'Beirne, the President of the Irish Political Prisoner's Fund Association, the Hon, James Pitzgerald, and John Van Hosen, Gen. O'Beirne recited the history of freiand and her oppression by the English Government.

"We are here," said Gen. O'Beirne, "on an occasion full of significance. Representatives from 110 irish societies are gathered here to provide ways and means for the relief and for the betterment of the condition of the men who have been released as prisoners from British dungeons. The story is not a new one. There is also dutely no law permitting the cruelty

Judges and juries who were their political enemies.

It was also resolved that the association pledge itself to care for the victims of such treatment and to raise a fund for their necessities, and also to endeavor to secure the liberation of the men still in brison. Telegrams were read from Senator Sherman, Justice Keogh of the Supreme Court, ex-Congressman Forst, and Judge Joseph F. Daly, expressing their sympathy with the movement. The meeting ended with the song "God Save Ireland," which the audience joined in singing.

ized over two hundred speakers for the State campaign. It is estimated that over two thousand speeches have been made in Indiana since the first of the month.

There never were more enthusiastic campaign workers than are now to be found among the young Popocrats of Indiana. They were insulted by Bryan's reference to the National Democracy at Indianapelis the otherday, since which time the young men have been organizing at a wonderfully rapid rate.

News from Kentucky to night is to the effect that the Republicans have increased their figure since last week and that they now safely expect to land the Blue Grass State into the McKinley column by a plurality of 15,000. The lan, the proprietor, there were five men in the store when the policeman returned with his prisoner. They all jumped on him at once, and in the fight that followed the prisoner escaped. The men threw O Sullivan on the floor and danced a war jig on his body. They also tried to take his night stick from him, but he was able to retain it because it was tied to his wrist by a strong leather strap.

The noise of the fray brought Hanan into the store on a run. One of the men grabbed Hanan's wrist in his teeth and hit him severely. A loy who came into the store to see the fight took O'Sullivan's night stick, and, running outside, rapped for help. Four pelicemen came, and Hedan and his allies were arrested. At they tation house the latter said they were Jacob and Max Lascow of 23 Hester street, Henry Brill of 22 Norfolk street, and Julius Brody of 30 Hester street. The five men were locked up, and the wound in Hanan's wrist was dressed by an ambulance surgeon from Gouverneur Hospital.

effect to quench the flame of agitation altogether, the movement itself has not been embraced with any degree of ardor by the public. Dr. Lepsius, the leader of the Armenian agitation, has been summoned to the Foreign Office and requested to desist from further activity in the matter, he being informed, it is understood, that as the movement was strongly political, and in no respect a philanthrepic one, the Gov-erument could not countenance it. The Hamburg Nuchrichten, the personal organ of Prince Bismarck, in its discussion of the Armentan question argues that the Armenians are rebels, while Germany and Turkey have the most friendly relations. Therefore the German niders and abettors of the Armenians are liable to punishment under the German criminal code. "THE CARNIVAL OF BLOOD."

An Outpouring of London Workmen to Protest Against Armenian Massacres London, Oct. 11 .- An anti-Sultan demonstra tion was held in Hyde Park to-day by the workingmen of London. The weather was very cold and dull, but a large number of persons took part in the procession that formed on the Thames embankment and marched thence to Hyde Park. The line was fifty minutes passing. The demonstration had the appearance of an ordinary public trades union gathering. The procession was accompanied by bands and many Twelve platforms had been erected in Hyde Park from which the speakers addressed the assemblage. Among those who made addresses were Mr. Henry Broadhurst, M. P.: Mr. John Burns, the Socialist member of the House of Commons; Mr. Edward H. Pickersgill, M. P.: Mr. James H. Yozall, M. P.; Mr. James Stuart, M. P., and the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes. They all denounced the Sultan and set forth the horrors of the massacre of his Christian subjects Hesaintings were submitted to the assemblace Resolutions were submitted to the assemblage and adopted by acclamation, calling upon the British Government to bring renewed and increased pressure to hear upon the great powers to secure united action to order to prevent the Sultan from continuing the "carnival of blood." The resolutions assured the bovernment that the workingmen would support it in any steps it might take in this direction.

GERMAN EMIGRATION. Efforts to Divert It from America and BERLIN, Oct. 11. The officials who have been charged with the duty of considering the emigration question are agreed upon the principle of the establishment of a special office, forming a sort of Board of Emigration. The matter of emigration is now normally under the super-vision of the Home Office, which lacks the vision of the Home Office, which lacks the means of dealing with the question adequately, One of the functions of the new Bloard will be to direct German emigration into proper channels. In plain language, this will be to divert emigra-tion from America and Australia to the German African colonies.
